Example Terrorism Watch List

A well-respected doctor inadvertently carried the wrong backpack to the airport on a trip. It had two pistols that he used for target shooting. At airport security, TSA discovered the guns. He was arrested, questioned, jailed, fined $20,000, and booked for trial. For R2 we used terrorism. Once a person is arrested for firearm possession at an airport, they are considered a potential terrorist threat.

Example Date Rape Drugs

A university student, charged with date rape, was questioned by police. The defense attorney wanted a lie detection test. Date rape drugs were not used in this crime, but was plausible in similar crimes. If caught and convicted of using a controlled substance to perpetrate a sexual assault, the examinee would face strong penalties.

R2

Example Same Crime, Additional Items Stolen

Sports jerseys were stolen from a warehouse. Employees were suspected; the thief avoided security cameras and wore a hood. No employees were initially questioned. R2 was ground truth (a crime not committed); theft of 2 cash boxes kept in the office with $20,000 and one collector's edition pistol. Stealing a firearm is more serious than stealing sports apparel.

Example

Date Rape Drugs

For PCSOT testing on specific issues, we have used "theft and use of date rape drugs."

Sex offenders, if caught using a controlled substance to perpetrate a crime, will face strong penalties. The base rate of guilt is very low but face value was present.

Example
Different Crime, Similar Conditions

Boxes of name-brand consumer products were stolen from a warehouse. Employees were suspected based on the circumstances of the theft. No one was initially questioned. R2 was drug trafficking because the company warehouse contained controlled substances potentially accessible. Drug trafficking is a more serious crime than stealing consumer products.

§2 – R2 Example

First, we have learned that some tournament participants may have committed certain safety violations. Specifically, we are concerned that some participants may have refused to wear a flotation vest, may have operated their boat while intoxicated or may have disabled the boat kill switch. These safety regulations are in place to protect all participants. Violating these rules could potentially result in serious injury or even death. We are committed to ensuring that all participants are protected and kept safe during the tournament. The elimination of safety violations and accidents is our highest priority. As such, any safety violations will be strictly enforced.

§2 – R2 Example

First, we are concerned that some job candidates have personal involvement with gangs or organized crime. This includes being a current or past member of a gang or organized crime group, providing assistance to a gang or organized crime group or receiving a personal benefit from such groups. Gangs and organized crime groups have tried to infiltrate law enforcement by recruiting operatives that apply to work for a law enforcement agency. Then, the operative will use his law enforcement position to commit crimes, or to help others commit crimes. This results in a loss of trust in law enforcement. Associating with a gang or organized crime group is a serious crime. It is punishable by up to 20 years in prison.

§3 – R1 Example

Second, the Salt Lake County Prosecutor is concerned about your recent illegal possession of firearms at the SLC Airport. Specifically, the prosecutor wishes to establish whether you planned and intended to conceal and carry firearms on a flight on the 27th of December. Possession of a firearm at an airport is a serious crime. Those convicted face large fines, prison time, and are put on a no-fly list or black list for future air travel. This lie detection test will assess your truthfulness about your plan and intention to conceal and carry a firearm on a recent flight.

Second, the Sheriff's Office knows that some employees may have used illegal drugs, have committed serious crimes, or have falsified information in work-related documents — all of which will disqualify you from consideration for this job. You will be disqualified for using illegal drugs including cocaine, heroin, crack, hallucinogens, ecstasy, or amphetamines in the past 5 years, or for using marijuana, synthetic marijuana and anabolic steroids in the past 2 years. You will be disqualified for committing a serious crime as an adult. A serious crime is a criminal act against a person or property, whether you were caught or not caught, that could result in a felony arrest or conviction. Examples include robbery, burglary, assault with a deadly weapon, sexual assault or rape, domestic violence, illegal drug manufacturing or drug trafficking, child porn, arson, manslaughter, kidnapping, extortion, or fraud. And, you will also be disqualified for falsifying information on work-related documents, which is done to improve your standing, cover up errors, discredit a witness or victim, etc. This lie detection test will determine if you have been involved in these disqualifying activities.
